

CUSCO

Location

Cusco, the gateway to Machu Picchu, is located in the valley of the Huatanay River in the southeast of the Andes at 3400 meters above sea level. Cusco is 1153 Kms. southwest from Lima.

History

Cusco is the former capital of Tahuantinsuyo, the center of the Empire of the Four Regions and the "Navel of the world". From this city unfurled one of the most remarkable empires in the history of mankind. The Incas expanded their frontiers in less than one hundred years from the north of Quito in Ecuador to Santiago de Chile far south. In the eastern direction they reached Argentina. Although the Incas are not well known in the western world, they were bigger than many ancient cultures intensively studied.

IQUITOS

Loreto is the largest yet least populated department in Peru. It is covered by dense vegetation and by primary and secondary jungle with low hills and slightly rolling landscape, crisscrossed by the many rivers of the Amazon River basin, which is born at the confluence of the Marañón and Ucayali Rivers.

Iquitos, the capital of Loreto, is the main port city on the Amazon River and the largest city in the Peruvian jungle. Different indigenous people groups like the Cocama, Huitoto, and Bora first inhabited the area, then came the Jesuit missionaries who founded the city. At the end of the nineteenth century was when Iquitos experienced its greatest economic glory due to the rubber industry. The economic bonanza meant that luxurious buildings like the art nouveau Palace Hotel and the Iron House, designed by the famous French architect Gustave Eiffel, were constructed there. In contrast to these buildings, you find the homes in the Belén neighborhood that are constructed on top of rafts and pylons to protect them from the flooding of the river.

One of the best attractions in Loreto is navigating on the rivers and lakes and enjoying the beautiful beaches. The Pacaya-Samiria National Reserve (2,080,000 hectares), the largest reserve in Peru, is located 183 kilometers from the city and is home to numerous plant and animal species, many of them in danger of extinction like the charapa river turtle, the giant river otter, the black caiman, and the river dolphin.

Likewise, the Allpahuayo-Mishana National Reserve (58,000 hectares) protects the largest concentration of white sand forests, or varillales as they are known in the Peruvian Amazon rainforest. This happens to be one of the best areas to go for bird-watching. In addition to these national reserves, there are also numerous private reserves, which have been created to satisfy all tastes.

ALTITUDE

Capital: Iquitos (104 masl / 341 fasl)

Lowest point: 70 masl / 230 fasl (Amelia)

Highest point: 220 masl / 722 fasl (Balsapuerto)

CLIMATE

The weather in Iquitos is hot and rainy all year long. The average annual maximum temperature is 31°C (88°F) and the minimum is 21°C (70°F). The dry season (July–November) and the flood season (December–July) feature particular differences in the plant and animal life, as well as in the climate.

IQUITOS, THE GRATE JUNGLE ADVENTURE

04 Days / 03 Nights

Day 1: Lima – Iquitos - Amazon River & Serpentario - Lodge

Our guide collects you from the airport or your hotel; the transfer by bus from Iquitos airport to the Bellavista port is a 1/2 hour ride. On the way we pass the fascinating vibrant jungle metropolis with historical roots in the rubber boom.

We head towards the Bellavista harbor on the Nany River to board our speedboat for a 45 minute trip up the Nanny and Momon rivers (Note: It is quite possible that you will share the boat trip with other passengers who are entering the lodge at the same time).

On the way we observe the Nanay and Amazon River, you will note the "meeting of the waters" a blending of the Amazon which is brown and Nanay which is black water. (Sometimes you can see the pink or gray dolphins).

We will appreciate our natural wonder that is the "Amazon River"

Visit to "Barrio Florido" a small village where you can see Victoria Regia plants, and see a collection of alligators and paiche fish.

On the way to the lodge we stop to visit the Serpentarium. A local Peruvian man has a fine collection of wild animals including Boa and Anaconda snakes, monkeys, jungle cats and sloths. He is happy for you to pick up the animals and take plenty of photographs. This is actually a real fun part of the whole jungle tour experience as it is the only time that you can really get up close and personal with the animals!

Upon arrival at the Lodge we are warmly greeted with a welcome drink made of local tropical fruits. Our Guide will explain the activities and he will give an orientation of the bungalows and the main facilities available at the Lodge.

We have our first taste of the delicious food in our restaurant "The Hungry Monkey".

Free Afternoon: Boating, walking excursion or If you prefer, time to relax at the lodge such as the large swimming pool, the water slide, the Jacuzzi as well as going to the top of our two towers to enjoy the view or relaxing on the balcony overlooking the Momon river to watch the boats sailing by and observe the birdlife.

After dinner your Guide fascinates us with tales of the jungle, telling us about jungle folklore: Tales of pink dolphins that turn into humans and seduce young maidens, the whistling of the Tunchi, and the one-legged ELF known as the Chulluchuki.

Day 2: Lodge

05:30h

(Optional) We rise at the crack of dawn, around 05:30 AM, for an hour long canoe ride up river to enjoy the great variety of bird life. Many bird species of the Amazon are active at this hour feeding on fruit trees and diving into the river to catch small fish. We hear their joyful singing as they fly around.

After breakfast: Hike through the jungle to explore the rainforest. We visit the river communities of Gen Gen and Centro Fuerte where we will learn the customs and habits of the mestizo people who live on the river banks of the Amazon region. These "River People" are humble subsistence farmers and fishermen. In their small plots they harvest manioc tuber and plantains. They use small canoes and fishing nets to harvest the abundant variety of fish in the river. We will have a game of football against the local villagers from Gen Gen or Centro Fuerte (optional).

Visit the Botanical Garden "Chullachaki". The owner will give an explanation about medicinal plants growing in this beautiful garden.

We visit the 'Alamas' Indigenous Tribe. They recently moved to our area and they have built a small community with a large communal hut where they offer us a typical friendly greeting. They dance and sing and perform their traditional rituals. They offer us their home made handicrafts made out of local plants, seeds and wood from the area.

We will travel by boat to Piranha Park a private reserve. It is a place to enjoy nature; there are five lakes, in one of them you can fish piranhas, in another other fish of the region, take a ride on a cayak; you can observe primates, a great variety of trees with long fibers and medicinal plants; you can see Victoria Regia, considered the largest water lilies; they have large round leaves measuring up to 1 meter in diameter, the flower is up to 40 cm diameter. They open from six in the evening, blooming from March to July. In this area you can find virgin forest and explore the mysteries of our jungle.

After the delicious evening meal we motor our way up river with our long canoe; after a while the Guide switches off the engine and in complete silence we drift downstream under the moon and stars, enjoying the chorus of nocturnal animals, fire flies, insects, frogs, birds, owls, jumping fish and other creatures of the night.

Day 3: Loldge

Breakfast at the lodge.

Visit our new attraction: an Insectarium called 'Macrodonga'. It is a center of display of nature in which you observe several species of insects such as spiders, beetles, ants, grasshoppers, butterflies, etc. The local guide gives an explanation of each type of insect which are housed in 12 specially built enclosures.

The second part of the tour shows the rubber demonstration for making handicraft products; Rubber is obtained from a tree by a treatment of a milky juice called "latex" . Your guide explains the whole process.

Afternoon: Take a hike to the Trapiche where you will see the local sugar cane maker and taste his delicious sugar cane liquor.

Night tour: We will go for a walk to see and hear the sounds of the night; you can find some of the insects, snails, centipedes and frogs that produce the cacophony of sounds that begin after dark. Sometime you see tarantulas!

After dinner, we have a musical jungle jam session using a variety of local acoustic instruments that we keep by the Restaurant, such as harmonicas, guitars and flutes. Each of the tourists can pick an instrument and we can have fun playing and singing until the wee hours of the night.

Day 4: Lodge – Bora Indigenous Tribe – Butterfly – Iquitos – Lima

Breakfast at the Lodge

On our final day, from here we make our way back to the city of Iquitos and on the way we make visits by boat, to the Boras Indigenous Tribe who lives further down the Momon River. They are a friendly tribe who will show us their traditional dancing and singing. The men chant and beat their drums and the women sing and dance playfully. After several songs the young Indian girls invite the tourists to join in the dancing and everybody ends up dancing together going round and round in big circles. After the dancing session is over we can take plenty of photos of the tourists together with the Indians and they will show us their lovely collection of handicrafts which they offer for sale to the visitors.

Visit to the Butterfly Farm, just off the Nanay River near the village of Padre Cocha. There is a large enclosed area which houses dozens of species of native butterflies. Here you can see and walk among many different species of the most beautiful butterflies of the Amazon region and experience their whole life circle. It's also a unique opportunity to take photos of tropical butterflies in their natural environment. Back to the Lodge.

City tours: this program may vary according to various factors, such as what time of day tourist enters the Lodge on the first day, what time they leave on the last day, the weather conditions, and how active that the tourists wishes to be during the trip. All the tourist's wishes should be communicated to the guide who will do his best to accommodate them.

The Boulevard: Located opposite the Itaya River, one block from the Main Square, overlooking the Amazon River; in the tour we observe important historical monuments, statues, restaurants and cafes.

The Main Square: Very colorful place and meeting point for tourists.

The Catholic Cathedral: The Cathedral of Iquitos known as the Mother Church of Iquitos, located in the center of Iquitos, at the intersection of Arica and Putumayo streets, was declared a Historic Cultural of the Nation of Peru in 1996, considered an icon of Iquitos.

The cast Iron House built by Eiffel, designed by the French architect Gustave Eiffel (of Eiffel Tower fame) in 1897.

We visit the Quistococha Zoo, located outside the city past the airport, about a 20 minute ride from downtown. Here we see a wonderful collection of different species of animals including large felines, many monkeys, colorful birds and the paiche fish, which have lungs and must surface occasionally so that they can breathe. PUNO

Location

Puno is without a doubt one of the most attractive destinies in Peru and one of most interesting in the continent: few cities have the privilege to be located to borders of a natural wonder like the Titicaca, then highest navigable lake in the world.

Located in the Plateau of the Collao and on the shores of the Titicaca (3860 meters above sea level) Puno is the most important lake port of Peru. Its strategic location between the cities of Cusco and La Paz, makes of Puno a not-to-be-missed step for the tourists who travel between Peru and Bolivia. The limits of Puno are Tacna, Moquegua and Arequipa. Puno is 1303 Kilometers south of Lima.

The city of Puno

Puno is a tourist place thanks to the nearby Titikaka Lake and Sillustani Burial Towers. The city itself isn't very interesting and looks poor. Most of the buildings are made of adobe and covered with metal roofs. The center is small. The Jirón Lima is a car free street with restaurants and pubs. This street is the center of nightlife and many tourists and locals come together in this place. Peñas with live music create a pleasant atmosphere. One end of this street is the Plaza de Armas with the Cathedral built in 1747 by Simón de Asta. The railway station is situated on Avenida la Torre where you can also find a market of vegetables and fruits. In the small tiny streets of Puno a lot of bicycles are used for transportation. As these are also used as taxi, they bring visitors to the harbor at the end of Avenida el Puerto and Avenida Titikaka. Boat trips are offered with a guide to the floating islands of Uros and to the islands of Taquile and Amantaní.

LIMA

Lima is the capital and largest city of Peru. It is located in the valleys of the Chillón, Rímac and Lurín rivers, on a coast overlooking the Pacific Ocean. It forms a contiguous urban area with the seaport of Callao. After Sao Paulo and Mexico City it is the third largest city in Latin America.

Lima was founded by Spanish conquistador Francisco Pizarro on January 18, 1535, as La Ciudad de los Reyes, or "The City of Kings."
