D. Vision for WT in next 4-years

Over the next four years, my vision for World Taekwondo is rooted in unity, innovation, and growth. I am committed to strengthening the global Taekwondo family by enhancing collaboration between Member National Associations, promoting transparency in governance, and investing in the next generation of athletes, coaches, and officials. Our sport is evolving, and so must our leadership. I envision a future where every stakeholder feels empowered and heard, and where inclusivity, diversity, and fair play are not just values—but visible realities at every level of our organization.

To achieve this, I will champion initiatives that modernize our competition formats, expand digital engagement, and elevate the profile of Taekwondo on the global sporting stage. I believe in leveraging technology to make our events more dynamic and accessible, while also ensuring that athletes' welfare and development remain at the core of our mission. From grassroots programs to elite pathways, I am committed to fostering a culture of excellence, integrity, and opportunity. Together, we can build a more connected, forward-looking World Taekwondo that honors its traditions while embracing the future.
